Story

K: Today's story is about the head, the body, and the legs.

Long ago Head had no legs, no arms, no body. All he could eat were things on the ground with his tongue.

HEAD: I wish I could reach those cherries. Maybe if I roll very fast, I could knock some down.

He rolled and crashed.

HEAD: Ow, ow, ow!

ARMS: Who's there?

HEAD: Look down here!

ARMS: I can't, I cannot see.

HEAD: Let's work together. I have eyes to see and you have hands for picking cherries.

The arms dropped to the ground and attached themselves to the head. Hands picked cherries and head ate all of them. Then, he fell asleep. Suddenly, Body fell on top of head.

HEAD: Ouch!

BODY: Hey! Stop pushing me. Who are you?

HEAD: It's us, head and arms. Watch where you're going.

BODY: I can't. Cannot see.

HEAD: Why don't you join us? I see some ripe mangos over the river. If you help us swim over there, I'll help you see where we are going.

BODY: Okay.

They swam to the mango tree. Arms stretched as much as they could but could not reach the mangoes. Head saw a pair of legs. Arms grabbed the legs.

LEGS: Who are you?

HEAD: Who are you?

LEGS: We're legs, we were walking but bumped into this tree.

HEAD: Join us, I have eyes, I can show you where to go and you can help us reach those mangoes.

LEGS: Okay.

Everyone slid into place. Legs stood on tiptoe. Body straightened out. Arms stretched up and the hands picked a mango. Head took a bite.

H: Now, this is perfect.

THE END
